MEETING MINUTES

Two guest speakers and a heavy agenda made RNA's September meeting a busy one. The first order of business was to welcome Officer Ed Rutkowski of the J.C. Police Dept. Community Relations Unit. Officer Rutkowski was at the meeting to offer the pros and cons of starting a civilian patrol in our neighborhood.

Officer Rutkowski had several recommendations if RNA plans to go ahead with a civilian patrol, or neighborhood walk, program. The first is to incorporate the neighborhood association to protect RNA from any potential lawsuits. Along the same lines, Rutkowski said insurance may be needed to protect RNA from any liability. He also recommended establishing a central location where the people on patrol can call to report any suspicious activity. The location could change from one night to another, but there must be a place where the patrols can check in each night. He also underscored the obvious - the patrols could not be armed; their purpose would be in prevention, not apprehension. He suggested using CB radios or walkie talkies, but said police radios could not be used. The patrols would need notebooks for taking written notes on suspicious activity, but identitying clothing, such as a beret, T-shirt, or armband (such as the Guardian Angels wear) would be optional. In all, Officer Rutkowski said those on patrol would be asked to stand their ground, make themselves a physical presence in the neighborhood, but never use physical force or confrontation while on duty.

The potential problems with establishing a civilian patrol are serious. The first is the possible retribution from criminals. Although Rutkowski said there have not been such problems with the two civilian patrols already established in Jersey City, he noted it is something RNA should consider before creating such a program. A bigger problem is liability. We live in a litigious society, and if RNA's walking patrol in some way identifies the wrong person as a criminal (or any number of other scenarios), RNA could be sued. That is why the incorporation and the insurance may be necessary.

Finally, Rutkowski said citizen patrols are helpful to police even if they are loosely structured. As he put it, "Just being out there is helpful."

After Officer Rutkowski, RNA heard from someone already walking the streets of our neighborhood - Patrolman

A THOUSAND POINTS OF LIGHT TO CLEAN UP PALISADE AVENUE

Well not really, but you'll get the idea. As described in a presidential speech - volunteering is an exceptional thing. On Saturday, October 17th, we at RNA will have a neighborhood clean-up of our area - primarily on Palisade Avenue from Cueno Place to Griffith Street.

We will sweep up the debris on the sidewalks and in the streets and put it in garbage bags. We will seperate and recycle cans and bottles. There will be shovels and brooms and bags available. However, if your have a favorite sturdy broom, please bring it along. There will be no cleaning up of private lots. We will meet at the front entrance of the Harbor View at 10:00 a.m. on Saturday morning, October 17th. Expect no more than two to three hours of work.

This is volunteerism at work. This is a commitment to clean-up your neighborhood.....the place you live.....where you bring up your kids....take the time to help RNA clean-up your streets...it is worth the time and effort, we promise! (Raindate will be the following Saturday, October 24th, the same time and meeting place.)

[continuation of MEETING MINUTES]
Shawn Carson, also of the J.C. Police Dept. Patrolman Carson is a community-based cop walkinf the beat in our neighborhood. From 6 p.m. to 2 a.m., he can be seen wearing out his shoe leather on Webster, New York, Palisade and Ogden Avenues from Bowers to Waverly Streets. His schedule is five days on, three days off and the days he works rotate from one week to another. At the time of the meeting, he had been on the job one month.

Patrolman carson asked for our help in doing his job. He would like residents to tell him where trouble spots are, and he can make himself more of a presence in those problem areas. You can call the North District Precinct and leave a message for him there. The number for the North District is 547-5350.

He told RNA he walks all sections of his beat several times a night, but because of all the activity at Franklin Street and Palisade Avenue, he spends a lot of time at that corner. He is watching for all suspicious behavior and criminal activity, but said he tends to come across four problems over and over again: loud radios, public drinking, graffiti, and loitering. He said his presence is a deterrent to these crimes, and all others.

Office Carson promised RNA to get a list of all community-based officers currently working in the North District.

After the guest speakers, the new item of RNA's proposed expansion was briefly discussed. RNA has proposed amending its constitution to expand its boundaries to include all of Ogden and Palisade Avenues from Cuneo Place to Congress Street. There were four new faces at the September meeting, all of the newcomers live in the proposed expansion area north of Bowers Street. They came to the meeting in response to fliers that were delivered door-to-door in the proposed area. Chair Maria Tuzzo explained that RNA is trying to determine if there are enough residents in the proposed area interested in joining RNA to warrant the expansion. RNA plans to handdeliver more fliers this month, and a vote on the proposal would be made at the December meeting, at the earliest.

Another big item on the agenda was the flea market, which was four days away from the meeting. Flea Market Chair Ernest Quintero took care of last-minute items and lined up volunteers for the event.

Finally, the issue of the basketball courts in Riverview Park came up again. The City has promised, in writing, to shut the lights on the basketball court at 10 p.m., but so far it seems it has not been done. Residents near the courts contend they are a magnet for outsiders to come to the neighborhood at all hours of the night to play ball and hang out. And residents noticed there was less vandalism when the courts were shut down for the renovation over the summer. RNA's executive committee to look into the matter.

Dominic Rea was the 50/50 winner.

JOIN us at our next meeting, October 13th at 7:15 p.m. at the Harbor View Health Care Center. We have invited several of the mayoral candidates to give a short presentation and be available for questioning. As we go to print we have confirmations from Louis Manzo, Marilyn Roman, Jaime Vazquez, Willie Flood and Micheal Borseso.

Margaret McCorry, Secretary

THANKS FOR YOUR HELP!

From all the reviews and compliments, RNA's Eighth Annual Flea Market was a huge success. It was well planned without the inherent confusion and panic of past years. All phases of the event, such as the cleanup before and after, the unloading and loading of the cars, the parking, the selling of food, the rental of a port-o-john, the 50/50 and even the setting up of a information table for the Police Dept., the Recycling Division and our our RNA membership drive - proceeded calmly and organized. The kids were entertained by both McGruff, the Crime Prevention Dog and J.C.'s own recycling Roll-Off. We were also treated to some live music from the pavilion during the afternoon.

Here are some of the people responsible for making this year's flea market a success on September 12th: Rose and Dominic Rea, Mark Wilder, Rebecca Everett, Terry Constantino, Dennis Elgrim, Frank Sweeney, Margaret McCorry, Rose Scalzo, Gert and Fred Bogdan, Bea Higgins, Kathy Brennan, Hank Cesari, Gina Giambattista, Andy and Vito Brunetti, Jack Rea, Ben Quintero, Maria Tuzzo, Victor Torres, Chuck Hollowell, Frank Allegretto, Ed Bruner, Frank DeMaio, Jeffery the Hot Dog man, Tom Killeen, Kevin Nolly, Willie Brown, John Amara, Officer Aldo Rubana, Andy Penelli, Kevin O'Connell, Kathy Dellaglio, and my answering machine. I thank you all from the bottom of RNA's heart. And in case I left out anybody from this list, thank you too, we could not have done it without you!

Now the preceding list is an example of how a large number of people can get together and make the effort to have a great day and a successful project for RNA. Hope to see the same interest at our Ninth Annual Flea Market next year!

Ernest Quintero

Well, another year and our annual flea market is a thing of the past. Oh, but what pleasant memories! This year as in all other years, we had the great support of our hard-working members and as always, we are extremely grateful to them. But I wish to talk about those people who are not members of RNA but who are alwyas there for our group year after year.

First is Fred Bogdan. Everyone knows Fred's wife, Gert but few recognize Fred. we long time members of RNA certainly recognize Fred. He's the guy driving the big tan car, loading and unloading supplies for the food table and the RNA table. You never hear much from him but we can always count on him - no questions asked.

Second is Mr. G., or Peter Giannantonio, manager of the A & P. Mr. G always contributes to our flea market. We request assistance each year in the form of supplies for the flea market, and Mr. G. responds - unselfishly and without pause.

Third is Kathy Dellaglio. Each year she has gotten us the use of St. Nicholas' parish tables. She also makes herself available for the day of the flea market. While a busy life working for the Church keeps Kathy from attending RNA meetings, you can be sure that when its flea market time, Kathy will be there - you need only tell her where you want to to help.

Last but not least least is Dolly Quinton. Dolly is always there when we need her. She does not attend meetings regularly, but twice a year, despite her own ill health, Dolly makes special dishes for RNA. For the flea market, its always her famous Chili for the hot dogs. For our annual party for the Harbor View residents, it's her mouthwatering Rice Pudding. We don't see Dolly often, but we know that when we call there will be no ifs, ands, or buts, because Dolly will come through for RNA.

It is these special people and other like them that are what neighborhoods and neighbors are all about. We wanted them to know that we think they are special.

I would also like to say a special thanks to two people who this year stepped into the breach and helped us out tremendously at our flea market. They are Terry Constantino and Jeff Tuzzo.

Finally, I want to congratulate Ernie Quintero, this year's flea market chairperson. For a first time effort, Ernie did a formidable job. The proof of his measure is the success of the Eighth Annual Flea Market.

Maria Tuzzo

MUSIC IN THE PARK

At this year's flea market, we had a pleasant surprise - live music emanating from the pavilion all afternoon. Thanks to the musical talents of Chuck Hollowell and Frank Allegretto the park was filled with songs and guitar music that soothed the soul. Folk, rock and some original music entertained the people at the flea market. This fine musicial duo was right at home on the pavilion singing and talking to the people in the Park. They were later joined by guitarist Ed Bruner.

It was good to hear music in the Park again. RNA had helped organize a series of summer concerts in 1987 in each of the nine neighborhood parks in the City. Speaking to Chuck and Frank, we hope there are plans for a musicial concert next year during the summer in the Park - where the community can come out and enjoy some good local talent under the stars.

RNA would also like to thank Joey George of Ogden Avenue for supplying the musicians with the sound system. Joey has recently taken over the City Spirit Program and wants to expand their plans for musical events throughout the City.

RENAMING OUR PARK

On September 30, 1992, the City Council passed a resolution officially renaming our neighborhood park RIVERVIEW FISK PARK. RNA executives Maria Tuzzo and Margaret McCorry attended the meeting to explain the reasons why RNA wanted the name changed. Ms. McCorry made the public presentation before the Council. The resolution (File # Res. 92-791) was passed unanimously, seven to zero.

The reason for this change was that the original name of the Park was RIVERVIEW. When the renovation was started this spring, a large cornerstone was found in the Park with the name RIVERVIEW cut into it (the stone has recently been reset into the park centerpiece). The community has always referred to this park as RIVERVIEW and continues to do so to this day. RNA noticed the confusion that people have had in identifying the Park when we have held our annual flea markets in the Park - now hopefully that confusion will be ended by this renaming.

At Present, it is officially designated as Clinton Fisk Park, named after a war veteran of the First World War. And although, RNA respects the memory of the Clinton Fiske and does not want to remove his name from the official park registery we thought the best solution would be to RENAME THE PARK USING BOTH TITLES: RIVERVIEW and FISKE. In essence, honoring both the veteran and the community that uses the park.

RNA thought that now it would be the appropriate time to rename the Park because it has recently been renovated by the City and will soon be officially reopened by the City.

Speaking of renovation, the neighborhood seems very satisfied with the work done by the City and the contractors this summer in the Park. The playground is being well used by the kids of the community and interestingly, their parents are coming out to supervise them as well. The benches, litter baskets, and overhead lighting are well needed additions. We would also like to commend the sensitivity that the engineers and workers displayed toward the trees and their root systems when laying in the new sidewalk. As well remembered, it was RNA's greatest fear that this renovation could possibly destroy many of these old tree root systems. Thanks to the addition of a tree specialist to the renovation contract, no trees have been unintentionally lost. As we go to press, the City has started to replant new bushes in the Park.

The goal of the RNA is that RIVERVIEW FISK PARK will be maintained and patrolled regularly to insure the upkeep of the Park, especially against vandals and graffiti-criminals. It will be the residents responsibility to keep the Park clean by depositing trash and cans in the litter baskets. The next project for the Park will be to have the Ogden Avenue side of the Park - the overview portion - renovated by the City.

CONRAD'S CORNER

And now we have a letter from Ed Ziemelis of Hoboken to knock down the Loews and smell the ashes just like Roosevelt Stadium because it lacks parking. Has he ever seen how much parking we have around the Loews in Journal Square, he must be blind.

Destroying Roosevelt Stadium was a real tragedy when our politicians figured out they could save money on park personnel by sending our children to Liberty Park, but the poor haven't enough bus fare to send their children to Liberty Park and now our local parks have no park attendants.

Why are taxes so high in Hoboken? Have they just as many out of towners working for the City as we have in Jersey City? We have the highest taxes of any city in the United States and have the second largest senior population in the country. Doesn't Ed Ziemelis see this or is he just another tenant living high on the hog on a rent ceiling while old time homeowners are losing their homes because taxes keep going higher and higher?

The Stanley and Loews theatres may be leaders in the revitalization of Journal Square, but the PATH Station is not an improvement over the old station. In fact, it is causing all the trouble. It cost one hundred million dollars and does not pay any taxes to the City. All they did was add one hundred feet to the existing station and now we have the largest home for the homeless in New Jersey, right here in Journal Square. Put back the old station, it was better and get the Port Authority out of the real estate business. Then all the stores in the Square will thrive again and maybe we may not have any homeless.

Volunteers did all the work in the Loews to date. The lobby was completely gone over and any expenses were paid for with funds form the Preservation and Restoration Association. No taxpayer money was ever used to date for its restoration, which we estimated totaled half a million dollars. Besides volunteers, we did some fund raising and present performances are paying their way. We cannot understand why Councilman Wiley isn't able to do the same thing for restoring the Old Peoples Palace with volunteers. There seems to be a lot of people standing around Martin Luther King Drive who would be able to do the work.

PLEASE CURB YOUR PETS

One of our neighbors has recently brought to RNA's attention that people are not curbing their dogs properly. Translation: people are allowing their dogs to sh-t on the sidewalks and on private property. This is illegal and the owner of the animal can be fined by the City.

The proper way to walk a dog for exercise and "taking care of business" is to have the dog on a leash and pick up after the animal. An animal should never be let out of a house and allowed to roam the block by itself, leaving litter in all the wrong places. Animals let out by their owners without supervision can be picked up by the Animal Control Unit of the City.

Finally, the cat problem has become noticeable again. People seem to be determined to leave food out for these poor stray animals but not provide a shelter for them. Result: cats are constantly roaming around the neighborhood looking for a meal and a place to "take care of business". Please, if a person wants to take care of a cat, take it in and care for it completely.

VOTE ON NOVEMBER 3RD FOR YOUR NEXT MAYOR AND YOUR NEXT PRESIDENT

Riverview Neighborhood Association is urging everybody - its members, neighbors and friends to vote on Tuesday, November 3rd for the next President of the United States and the next Mayor of our beloved Jersey City.

RNA has a firm policy of not endorsing or campaigning for any specific candidates. Having said that, RNA also firmly believes it is the obligation of every citizen to vote for their elected officials. Each person has a responsibility to improve their lives locally, nationally, and internationally, especially as we go into the next century. It is even more of a moral duty to vote for the future of our children and grandchildren to come.

Locally we are voting for the office of mayor and a council-at-large seat. The winners will hold office for six months, until there a general municipal election next May. RNA is asking each voter to evaluate their choices and vote for the person they think is best qualified to help Jersey City. Someone who will literally clean house and sweep out all the malingering problems of our City.

REMEMBER TO VOTE ON NOVEMBER 3RD.
